In Appomattox County
Citizens will vote on zoning

Appomattox Citizens will have an opportunity to inform their local governments on whether they want to have a zoning ordinance when they go to the polls on Nov. 6.

The Appomattox County Board of Supervisors, with the authorization from the Virginia General Assembly, has placed the question on the November ballot.

A "yes" vote would mandate the board of supervisors to adopt a zoning ordinance. A "no" vote would indicate the citizens do not want zoning in the county, but the board of supervisors would not be mandated by the negative vote. The board still could adopt a zoning ordinance if it believed such action was in the best interest of the county.

The Appomattox County Planning Commission, at the request of the board of supervisors, has been preparing a draft zoning ordinance so that county citizens can have some idea what the affect would be if a zoning ordinance was approved.

"The voters will not be voting on this particular draft ordinance," explained Sam Waddell, chairman of the planning commission. "It will be used as an example only.

"The local governing bodies could adopt an entirely different ordinance, even if the referendum passed," Waddell said. "The citizens will continue to have input before the board of supervisors ever votes on an ordinance."

"The important thing to remember is the board is not going to adopt a zoning ordinance unless it benefits the entire county and is wanted by the citizens," stated Dr. S. E. Lawson, chairman of the board of supervisors.

County citizens will have an opportunity to learn more about the affects of zoning and express their opinion to members of the county planning commission and local governing bodies at a series of workshops to be held during October.

These workshops are scheduled as follows: 1. Tuesday, Oct. 16 at the county court house for Southside District; 2. Monday, Oct. 22, at the Oakville School for the Stonewall District; 3. Tuesday, Oct. 23, at the old Pamplin Elementary School Building, (now Brandy Ann Mfg.) for the Town of Pamplin and 4. Monday, Oct. 29, at the county court house for the Cloverhill District.

"All county citizens, including those living in the towns, are encouraged to attend these meetings," stated William R. Britton, Appomattox Town Manager and Special Assistant to the Appomattox County Board of Supervisors.

"IT is important that everyone try to understand the affects of zoning before they vote in November."

Anyone having questions may contact William R. Britton at 352-8266.

Hot air balloons to highlight festival

Look! Up in the skies! It's a bird...It's a plane... no, it's the WSET-TV Movin'Up Hot Air Balloon! Visitors to the Appomattox Railroad Festival will be able to see the hot air balloon inflate and take off over the area on Saturday morning about 9 a.m., weather permitting. The balloon, leased to WSET by owner/pilot Chip Dennis of The Sky's the Limit, Inc., is the largest balloon normally available for commercial use. Brightly striped, the balloon stands seven stories high when inflated and carries two Movin'Up 13 signs, each 16'x40'.

There are many misconceptions about hot air balloons of this size Janice Dexter, WSET promotion director in charge of scheduling the balloon, notes that "people think the balloon can take off at any time of day and travel wherever the pilot wishes to go--nothing could be further from the truth." Because of air currents caused by the sun heating up the earth during the day, the balloon can only safely be flown a few hours before sunset or after sunrise, and only rarely in the middle of the day. Threat of thunderstorms and wind velocity of over 10 mph also can keep the balloon from ascending. The balloon has absolutely no steering mechanism, and therefore is completely at the mercy of the winds for its direction.

WSET Hot Air Balloon

The Movin'Up 13 balloon is made available to community events and organizations at no charge to the event committees. Rides are not given in the balloon for several reasons: first, the balloon cannot be "tethered" and must therefore take off permanently after inflation, and secondly for insurance purposes. Persons interested in going for an hour/hour and a half flight may contact Chip Dennis at (804) 821-1821 for details.

By CALVIN ROBINSON

Greetings as we wind down a lovely September. Road and street maintenance crews have done a fine job on rights of way and highway shoulders and we are looking nice. And I note some preparations for the annual Railroad Festival. Ah yes, Julip, the resident Martha Street rabbit, seemed puzzled by all the goings on and I went near him in the back yard to explain things. Instead of listening and calming down, Julip took off as though he intended to join the French Foreign Legion. Or, maybe 'twas the first Hallowe'en trick.

Next item in my notepad is a reminder to salute the church workers who care for and teach, entertain and watch over small children during worship hours. Take a bow.

ACHS athletic teams are rolling along. And a big college football match this Saturday, Univ. of Virginia vs. VPI.

Had a pleasant telephone chat with Mrs. Tilden Lee, who is a champion winner of ribbons at the State Fair and Five County Fair. Appropiately, Mrs. Lee lives on Lee Street, Appomattox. She has been an Extension Club member 48 years. Won her first State Fair exhibit ribbons in 1967 and has accumulated 1,027. Last year she had accumulated 961 ribbons. In addition to blue, red, white and pink ribbons, she also has been a cash winner. She attended the State Fair in 1962. Friends and relatives transport her exhibits. Preserves, jelly, pickles, etc. This year she won on peach preserves, pears, carrots, corn, peas, blackeye peas, squash, etc.

What with football, baseball, basketball, softball, volleyball, golf, tennis and many other activities, the word "ball" gets into print, TV and all forms of media as much or more than any other word. Most often the "ball" has a rough time. Hit all over the place, smashed, bounced, dribbled, caught, thrown, and argued over no end. In conversation, books, newspapers, magazines, radio and TV endlessly, could be few words in the language are used more than "ball." SO, I had an inspiration. I got out my trusted Cruden's Concordance to see how many times the word "ball" is to be found in the Bible. Want to guess? ONE TIME. Isaiah 22:18. "...turn and toss thee like a ball..."

I have developed an eye for spelling errors. Make my own share. Even found one in the local telephone directory, and that is unusual. A sudden mean streak; I won't tell!

Current Reader's Digest has a long feature on Casey Stengel, long time N. Y. Yankee baseball manager, and Hall of Fame player in his own right.

Thanks for reading and Seeya Around Growing Appomattox.

Mrs. Maude Braford

1984 Christmas Mother
Braford cited

Mrs. Maude Braford has been named Appomattox County's Christmas Mother for 1984, according to Virginia Fratrick, volunteer services coordinator for the county.

Mrs. Braford is a retired consumer homemaking teacher who taught in Campbell County schools for 27 years.

The Appomattox County native is a member of Hebron Baptist Church, a member of the Wreck Island Neighbors Club, and an advisor to the Young Homemakers Club of Concord.

In speaking of the Christmas Mother Program, Mrs. Braford says, "Show your love this Christmas by giving through the Appomattox Social Service Department's annual gift fund drive to a child or adult in need.

"Gifts of food, household articles, toys or money are greatly appreciated and are now being accepted."

She adds that it is not necessary to gift-wrap packages. Toys, in particular, are needed this year, according to Mrs. Braford. She notes that last year, the Future Farmers of America club at Appomattox Middle School undertook a project whereby old toys were restored for distribution to the needed. She invites other organizations in the county to initiate such projects for the needy.

Donations can be made directly to the Social Services Department on Morton Lane each week from Monday through Friday.

Mrs. Braford may be reached at 993-2504.
